

City Will Give Quit Claim Deed For B'way Strip

When Present Street Line of Broadway Was Approved in 1879, It Narrowed Street—Property Owners Paid City $300 for This Strip of Land Tuesday—North Front Street to Retain Its Name.

Property owners on the northern side of Broadway, between St. James street and Elmendorf street, on Tuesday evening turned over to the city authorities the sum of $300 for the strip of land lying between the present and the old street line of Broadway, and they will be given quit claim deeds from the city for the narrow strip of land.

Broadway's present street line was established when the common council in 1879 adopted the survey made in 1874 by D. T. Van Buren, and which narrowed the street between St. James street and Elmendorf street by from eleven feet at the widest point to about two feet at the other end.

The matter was first brought to the attention of the present common council several weeks ago when Henry Klein, Harris Brown and N. B. Gross, who had purchased a Broadway property near St. James street, asked the common council to give them a release and the request was referred to Corporation Counsel Harry H. Fleming, who submitted a report at a meeting held earlier this month to the effect that the city still retained title in the narrow strip of land, and that the city could not relinquish title without consideration being made.

Aldermen George W. Moore, Leo W. Clark and George J. Sharkey were appointed a committee to consider the question and Tuesday evening submitted a report that the city furnish the property owners title to the land for the sum of $300. This report was unanimously adopted by the common council.

The committee's report, which was read by City Clerk A. A. Styles, follows: "Your committee appointed to confer with certain property owners relative to certain premises situate on the northern side of Broadway, commencing about 300 feet southeasterly of the intersection of St. James street with Elmendorf street, report that we have had a conference with the interested parties through their representatives, Virgil B. Van Wageningen, Isidore Sampson and Henry Klein, and after discussing the matter a proposition was made to the effect that the property holders would pay to the city the sum of $300 for a conveyance of all rights, title and interest which the city may have in and to the premises in question, and that portion thereof between what was the old established line of Broadway referred to on a certain map of D. T. Van Buren, made in 1874, and the present established line of Broadway. In view of the fact that the city has apparently no present use for the parcel in question and the circumstances in connection with the occupancy by the adjoining owners, we recommend that the offer of $300 be accepted."

Van Wageningen Expresses Thanks. Attorney V. B. Van Wageningen, who represented some of the interested property owners, was given the privilege of the floor and said he desired to express appreciation for the careful consideration given the matter by the corporation counsel and the common council and for the very fair solution that had been made of the question. In behalf of all the property owners he desired to express thanks.

Turns Over Money to City. "I have the $300 with me which I desire at this time to turn over to the city," said Mr. Van Wageningen, producing a check, which he handed to City Clerk Styles.

North Front Street Stays. Alderman DeGarmo of the First ward, who some time ago at the request of a number of property owners on North Front street had introduced a petition signed by them requesting the common council to change the name of North Front to Market street, said that he desired at this time to withdraw the petition which had been tabled when first introduced.

"They now want to leave the name as it is," explained Alderman DeGarmo.

The petition was withdrawn, and North Front street will still continue to be known by that name.

Mathews Is Appointed. The appointment of Delaney N. Mathews as a member of the board of education to fill the unexpired term of the late Judge John G. Van Etten was filed with the common council by Mayor E. J. Dempsey.

Motions and Resolutions. The following motions and resolutions were introduced and referred to the proper city boards:

Alderman Rejcek—that upper end of Linderman avenue be repaved; that South Wall street be repaved; that Donovan Place be repaved; that Wall street holes be filled.

Alderman Moynihan—that Elmendorf street be repaved.

Alderman Haines—that street light be placed on Albany avenue, between TenBroeck and Manor avenues.

Morrow May Find Opposition

In the United States Senate to His Appointment by President Coolidge as Ambassador to Mexico—Will Act Under Reversal Appointment Until Senate Convenes.

Washington, Sept. 21 (AP).—Selection of his close friend and Amherst College classmate, Dwight W. Morrow, to the ambassadorship to Mexico by President Coolidge has brought forth intimations of opposition in the Senate over the envoy's confirmation because of his partnership in the New York banking firm of J. P. Morgan and Company.

His appointment already approved by the Mexican government, Mr. Morrow is expected to sever his connection with the Morgan Company at once and without delay take up the post in Mexico City which has been vacant since the resignation of James R. Sheffield this summer. He will act under a recess appointment until the Senate acts on his selection.

The chief opposition to Morrow's selection probably will revolve in the Senate upon whether he has completely relinquished his Morgan Company connection because of the dealings between American bankers and the Mexican government on loan problems. As an associate in the Morgan concern of Thomas W. Lamont who formulated the Lamont-Paul agreement for the settlement of Mexico's overdue loans, Morrow is considered by state department officials to be cognizant of Mexico's financial and other affairs.

A complete airing, however, of his banking activities and qualifications, together with the study of the Washington government's present policies toward Mexico, was considered a likely step in the Senate Foreign Relations Committee's action on Morrow's confirmation. If the majority of the committee concurs in this attitude the new ambassador and State Department officials probably would be summoned to be questioned on this matter by the committee.

Mr. Morrow, it is assumed, will have occupied the ambassadorship for several weeks before the committee meets at the convening of the Senate in December. He may accomplish during that time a defining of American policy towards Mexico more clearly, it is considered among some official circles.

Forecast Success for C. D. of A. Show

The cast of the minstrel to be staged by the Catholic Daughters some time in the future, held its first meeting Tuesday night in the Knights of Columbus Hall, corner of Broadway and Andrew street, and from the array of talent present a most successful show is forecast.

The minstrel will be coached by Dave Long, who is a vet at the game, and who has put on a galaxy of successful performances in Kingston and the surrounding communities. Mr. Long's latest minstrel success was the one staged under his direction by the Young Judeans at the old Orpheum Theatre.

Coach Long was pleased with the way in which the talented Daughters displayed their ability and was much surprised at the large gathering of ladies who responded to the call for performers. However, should any other member of the organization wish to enter the cast, application may be made at the next meeting to be held Tuesday, September 27, at 8 p. m. in the K. of C. Hall.

Physicians to Aid at Clinic

Dr. Daniel Connelly, city health officer, stated today that plans were practically completed for the first of the series of free clinics to wipe out diphtheria in Kingston. The first clinic will be held Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the state armory.

There will be a staff of physicians and nurses present to assist in the work of immunizing the children. The members of the Parent-Teacher Associations of the city are now making a house to house canvass to interest parents in sending their children to the clinic.

Chestnut street from Montrose avenue to the end be repaved; that Spring street from Hudson to Ravine streets be repaved; that West Pierpont street, between McEntee and Wurts streets, be repaved.

Alderman Radel—that culvert on Spruce street be replanked as it was in a dangerous condition; that Post street be repaved.

Alderman Rejcek—that Winchell avenue be repaved as soon as possible as it was a mud hole at the present time.

Alderman Haines—that Ulster & Delaware railroad cut down weeds near the Downs street and Elmendorf street crossings.

Alderman Skarney—that culvert on Emerson street be repaved; that catch basin be placed in front of No. 123 Green street; that a street sign be erected on Emerson street at Main street; that catch basin be placed just east of Van Deusen avenue be cleaned.

Bills were audited and the council then adjourned. Alderman George W. Moore presided at the meeting in the absence of President A. Ray Everett who is away on his vacation.

Party Leaders Win in Primaries

Party Organizations Showed Strength in Contests in New York and Pennsylvania—New Jersey Defeats Four Proposed Constitutional Amendments—Some Contests Close.

(By The Associated Press)

Victories for organization candidates in New York and Pennsylvania primaries and for the Democrats in yesterday's special constitutional election in New Jersey are shown in the returns today.

Harry A. Mackay, city treasurer of Philadelphia and campaign manager for William S. Vare, won the Republican nomination for mayor from Mayor J. Hampton Moore. This race was considered a test of the strength of Vare, whose senatorial seat is challenged because of alleged campaign corruption.

New Jersey figures showed that of five Republican proposals for constitutional amendments, four opposed by the Democrats were defeated. One of those defeated provided for election of governors in presidential years.

Regular organization candidates won in the contests for assembly seats, and local offices in New York. There were no notable upsets.

Organizations Win. Albany, N. Y., Sept. 21 (AP).—Party organizations showed their strength in yesterday's primary election by returning their candidates generally throughout the state where there were contests for the more important nominations.

The most important of all the contests was a tri-cornered race in which the organization did not take formal part as such. This was in the 35th congressional district, which included Onondaga and Cortland counties where Clarence E. Hancock was successful for the Republican nomination to succeed the late Rep. W. M. Magee. Hancock defeated Frank E. Wade and William Allen Dyer.

The Democratic party organization was apparently successful in obtaining the nomination to fill the only vacancy in the state senate caused by the death of Daniel J. Carrall shortly before the closing of the last session. This is in the 11th district of Kings county. The organization backed Louis J. Jacobson against Laurence F. Carroll, 22-year-old son of the late senator, who had the Republican endorsement. With seven election districts missing Jacobson had a lead of 5,246 to 4,094 over Carroll.

Important Upstate Contests. The most important of the upstate assembly contests was in Jefferson county, where Jasper W. Cornaire, chairman of the county Republican organization, defeated Assemblyman Alfred E. Emerson for the nomination. A year ago Emerson was successful in winning the nomination from Cornaire, who was a prominent member of the assembly at that time.

The veteran dry leader of the lower house, Edmund B. Jenks, of Whitney Point, supported by the organization, again won the Republican nomination in the first district of Broome county. Arthur C. Norton was his opponent.

In the third district, Onondaga county, Assemblyman Richard B. Smith won the Republican renomination over the only woman who figured in primary contests, Elizabeth E. Egan. Here the organization did not formally take cognizance of the contest, but it was generally understood to be behind Smith.

Close Contest in Madison. The closest upstate contest developed in Madison county, where A. A. Hartshorn and H. J. Scheifele fought, without organization interference, for the Republican Assembly nomination. Early today with one district still missing, Hartshorn had a lead of 13 votes over his opponent, with 2,447 recorded for the former and 2,460 for the latter. The missing district has 28 enrolled Republicans and is a section where the basis of earlier returns had gone heavily for Hartshorn.

Assemblyman Wilson Messer in the first Steuben and James R. Robinson in Tompkins won their Republican nominations over George A. King and John W. Preswick, respectively. Both present incumbents had the tacit organization endorsement. In Schuyler county the Republican nomination went to James A. Shepard over Olin T. Nye.

Democratic Contest in Orange. The only upstate assembly contest among Democrats was in the first district of Orange county, where George F. Folley and George F. Birch were opposed. The interest here was so slight that the officials did not bother to tabulate the result, sealing the ballot boxes instead and sending them forthwith to the election board.

Ad Appears Today. There is an advertisement in today's issue of The Freeman which details the reduction in prices on men's and ladies' work, recently decided upon by the Kingston Tailors' Association. In Tuesday's issue a news item called attention to the ad, which did not appear.

St. James Turkey Dinner. The ladies of St. James M. E. Church are busy arranging for the annual turkey dinner to be held October 13.

More Than Two Score Planes on Way to Spokane

Planes Participating in Four Separate Races—Three Entries in a Non-Stop Race Ready for Start From New York City—Chicago Aviator Leads Class A Race.

(By The Associated Press)

More than two score airplanes scattered from the Atlantic to the Pacific today were winging their way toward Spokane in four separate races while a fifth group tuned up for an afternoon start.

Thirty planes competing in two transcontinental races were winging their way over the northwest while eleven planes from San Francisco in two other races sped to meet them at Spokane, the ultimate goal of all. Meanwhile at New York three entries in a non-stop hop to Spokane were set for a take off.

In the van of the class B group of small planes which left New York Monday were half a dozen which left Glendive, Mont., this morning. Behind them trailed fourteen others of the 25 starters. These fourteen were scattered from Illinois to Montana.

Leading the transcontinental class A group of larger planes which left New York yesterday was E. E. Balough, Chicago, who hopped from St. Paul and was first to arrive at Aberdeen. His rivals, ten in number of 15 starters, stretched from Indiana westward. Farthest back of these class was James O'Donnell and his wife, the only woman in the contests, who were forced down at Auburn, Ind.

Old Glory Wreck At Newfoundland

Crew of Steamer Which Found Wreckage Believe Plane Must Have Hit Water Head On While Going About 90 Miles an Hour.

Bay Roberts, Newfoundland, Sept. 21 (AP).—Belief that the monoplane Old Glory, lost at sea while attempting a transatlantic flight, hit the water head on with a slight list to the right while going about 90 miles an hour, was expressed today by members of the crew of the steamer Kyle. The Kyle had put into this port with a portion of the wreckage of the plane, recovered several hundred miles off the Newfoundland coast.

Members of the Kyle's crew thought the right side of the plane must have struck the water first, ripping out the top of the fuselage which carried with it a part of the left side of the plane.

The 47 foot section of one of the wings of the plane, with a portion of the under carriage attached, which the Kyle recovered, lay on the deck of the steamer today with the under side up, plainly showing the painted Stars and Stripes. The struts of steel tubing three inches in diameter were smashed as if with an axe.

Nobody Voted In One District

The Primary election held in Kingston and Ulster county Tuesday brought out a very light vote. There were no contests and few voters turned out at the polls.

Returns were being made in rapid order at the offices of the board of elections this morning. No reports of political battles in any of the districts in the county were received and in many districts there were but a few scattered votes.

In the first district of Marbletown there were no votes cast, the officials at the polls were neglecting to vote.

The primary election resulted in the nomination of the candidates selected for county and city officers at the August conventions of the Republican and Democratic parties, the election of delegates and alternates to the state conventions and the election of county committee members to represent the various districts.

MARGARETVILLE WILL BUILD NEW GYMNASIUM

The village of Margaretville recently voted the sum of $48,000 for a new gymnasium and other additions and alterations to the high school in that village and the school board is now advertising for bids for the erection of the building. The new gymnasium will house the Margaretville basketball team, which has often met various Kingston teams.

McDONOUGH AUTO LICENSE REVOKED AFTER HEARING

A hearing was held before Deputy Motor Commissioner Hennessy at the court house Tuesday morning on license suspensions. The license of Edward McDonough which was suspended following an accident in which the child of E. V. Winfield of this city was run down and killed, was revoked following a hearing. Thomas Kennedy appeared for McDonough and William A. Kaercher for Cunningham & Kaercher appeared for Mr. Winfield.

Fight Returns For Ex-Scrappers

Tunney-Dempsey Battle Returns for All Ex-Service Men at Legion Building—New Radio to be in Operation—Refreshments Served.

All ex-service men are cordially invited to gather at the American Legion Memorial Building, West O'Reilly street, Thursday night to hear the returns, blow by blow, of the Tunney-Dempsey heavyweight championship scrap at Chicago. The bout will be in the air about 12 o'clock.

Commander Conrad J. Helsenman is desirous of having all former army and navy men and of course marines, who will be interested in the welfare of Gene Tunney, ex-leatherneck himself, assemble in the hall of the Legion Memorial Building to hear the fracas results. If weather conditions are favorable Kingston Post, No. 150, will get the reports in a most audacious manner for a new radio has recently been installed.

The Legionnaires arranging for the reception of the championship bout hope that all ex-service men will answer the invitation to get in on the big scrap just as they did when the Heinies endeavored to conquer in 1914, but of course as the clamor call at this time is a pleasant one they feel sure of a large assemblage. Refreshments will be served.

Legion Wants An Air Secretary

Adopts Report of Its National Defense Committee After Spirited Debate in Which Former General Mitchell Takes Leading Part.

Palais du Trocadero, Paris, Sept. 21 (AP).—The aviation report of the national defense committee of the American Legion presented at today's session of the Legion convention called for the consolidation of all branches of national defense into one department with secretaries for each branch, including aviation. It precipitated a spirited fight.

Former Brig-General William Mitchell, long the stormy petrel of the American aviation service, was the man who set the fireworks going and for some minutes feeling ran high and angry words soared until finally upon the motion of Legionnaire Gilligan of Ohio, the general's remarks were stricken from the record.

An attempt to obtain a vote, viva voce, proved an utter failure several times and a roll call had to be resorted to, an amendment to the report being finally defeated by 622 to 299 and the report adopted. Several states split on the roll call and some changed sides during it.

General Mitchell, asking for the adoption of the recommendation without amendment, shouted: "A department of aviation at once under a direct cabinet officer is what is wanted."

The former air chief, speaking with his usual spirit, argued that while Europe was honeycombed with a network of "so-called commercial lines which from night to morning may be turned into military weapons", the United States has been standing still.

"It has been proved that a $15,000 airplane can destroy in a few hours $70,000,000 worth of battleships," he shouted.

The third day session, which was adjourned shortly after 1 o'clock, was given a colorful tinge by the presence of Commander Evangeline Booth, of the Salvation Army, General Mariot, one-legged governor of the French Soldiers' Home; Admiral Guersatte, who went down standing at attention on the bridge of his battleship when it was sunk in the Dardanelles; and Mother Saute, of the French "Blue Devils". The presence of these distinguished figures served to throw much war enthusiasm into the otherwise routine session which had been proceeding calmly until the introduction of the aviation problem.

EXPEL HERMAN W. BOOTH FROM STOCK EXCHANGE

New York, Sept. 21 (AP).—Herman W. Booth, member of the New York Stock Exchange since April, 1914, was expelled today for violation of the rules of the exchange. One of the charges on which he was found guilty by the governing committee was that he had failed to comply with the requirements of the committee on business conduct to submit his books and papers to the committee. The announcement of the expulsion was made from the rostrum on the floor of the Stock Exchange.

REPUBLICANS RENOMINATE AMSTERDAM MAYOR

Amsterdam, N. Y., Sept. 21 (AP).—Mayor Carl S. Salmon was renominated by the Republicans at the primary elections here, receiving 455 more than the entire vote accorded five candidates who opposed him.

Charges were filed against Mayor Salmon early in the year by the Rev. Thomas Adams, who asked his removal for neglect of duty. He was exonerated at a hearing directed by Governor Smith. If elected, he will serve a third term.

$200 Verdict for Tending Cattle

Ellenville Youth Sued Father and Latter's Partner for Services Under Agreement Which Father Admitted But Partner Denied.

A verdict in the sum of $200 was returned Tuesday afternoon in the action brought in Ulster county court by Benjamin Miller by Guardian against Abram Miller and Mana Berman, butchers of Ellenville. Benjamin Miller through his mother as guardian sought to recover $200 as alleged wages from his father, Abram Miller, and Mana Berman who were doing a partnership business in 1925 and 1926. During that time they bought and sold cattle and young stock, who was a student at school, claimed the partnership agreed to pay him $10 a week to care for the cattle which were owned by the partnership. His father, who was one of the defendants, testified that that had been the agreement, while Berman denied there had ever been such an agreement. Not during the 40 weeks which young Miller worked for the partnership did he receive any pay from the partners. Later when there was a disagreement between the two partners it was alleged Berman refused to pay the boy. Lefty Lounsbury appeared for the plaintiff and H. Westlake Coons and Lloyd R. Lefever appeared for the defendant.

There being no further business before the court a recess was taken until Tuesday when the grand jury is expected to report. Then an adjournment will be taken until November 14 when criminal work will be taken up.

An action brought by Doris E. Lane against Milton Walker, an appeal from justice's court, was dismissed on the merits without costs and judgment set aside on motion of counsel for defendant when plaintiff failed to appear in court after the case had been adjourned over several times. F. C. Merritt appeared for Walker, the defendant.

Harlan, Former I. C. C. Head, Dies

James S. Harlan, 70, Dies at Summer Home at Essex—Was Member of Interstate Commerce Commission from 1906-1918.

Essex, N. Y., Sept. 21 (AP).—James S. Harlan, aged 70, formerly chairman of the Interstate Commerce Commission, died at his summer home here last night after a lingering illness. His wife, a native of Essex, was at his bedside.

He is survived by the widow, Mary M. Noble, daughter of Colonel Belton Noble, of this village; two brothers, the Rev. Richard Davenport Harlan, Presbyterian minister, and John Maynard Harlan, an attorney of New York city, and two sisters, Miss Laura Harlan, at one time social secretary to Mrs. Warren G. Harding, and Miss Ruth Harlan.

Mr. Harlan was born at Evansville, Ind., and was a son of the late John Marshall Harlan, an associate justice of the United States Supreme Court. After his graduation from Princeton University in 1873, he studied law in the office of Melville E. Fuller, former chief justice of the United States. After admission to the bar in 1876, he practiced law in Chicago. He was appointed attorney general of Porto Rico in 1901, serving two years. President Roosevelt selected him as a member of the Interstate Commerce Commission in 1906 and he served on that tribunal during the administrations of Presidents Taft and Wilson, becoming chairman of the commission in 1914. He retired from the commission in 1918.

The very pretty and graceful song and dance novelty, "In a Little Garden," given charmingly by Alice McLaughlin and Gladys Hopper, was worthy of the tremendous applause.

Bathing Beauty Contest. Corking good as the entire program has been and will be, "The Bathing Beauty Contest" stands out as the highlight of the evening, and if you don't spend your money to help the Kiwanians help the underprivileged and needy children of this city by attending at least one performance of the Kapers, don't think for a minute that anybody is going even to try and tell you about that contest as staged by Paul Zucca.

It took full eight minutes of intermission for the audience and performers sufficiently to recover from that contest to go on with the program. And here's something for those who so tonight. They and they alone will see which beauty wins the amazing loving cup.

Texas Gulian's Night Club. The second half of the Kapering program, given over to "The Great White Way," and Texas Gulian's Night Club, surely looks like "The Morning After," in cold type, but at the Broadway Theatre as it was seen on Monday and Tuesday evenings and will be seen tonight, it is a colorful, kaleidoscopic, comical, killing, Kiwanian combination of impossible to beat. Right through, Clarence S. Rowland, "A Visitor from Kingston," and Margaret L. Richards as "Texas Gulian," are emphatically "It." If you don't get to see this for yourself you'll never

Kiwanis Kapers Close Tonight, Success Assured

Final Performance Will Be Staged Tonight Before Another Large Audience—Show Tuesday Again Scored Hit—Nice Sum For The Underprivileged Child.

Repeating the success of the initial performance before an equally crowded house, Kiwanis Kapers at the Broadway Theatre Tuesday evening again delighted and surprised their patrons of the second presentation. The wide variety of appeal from the musical, dancing, comedy and comedy standpoint as well as the much heralded professional character of an amateur show evoked the most favorable comments from the retiring audience at the close of the show. A frequent comment heard is that the show is "selling itself."

A surprisingly large number in the audience of this second performance also witnessed the first. The members and committee of the Kiwanis Club are enthusiastic about the prospect for the third and final performance this evening. A record crowd is expected and some have visions of "Standing Room Only" sign at an early hour at the box office.

One of the most gratifying features of this venture of the Kiwanis Club for the funds for the needy and underprivileged children is the amazingly low cost of the production, so that every supporter, apart from the fact that he or she will get full value in entertainment, may be assured that a large overhead will not cut down the amount that ultimately comes to the charity fund. No guarantee was required and after a certain figure is reached one hundred per cent of the receipts are for charitable purposes.

The complete and detailed account of the program that was published in Tuesday's issue of The Freeman fully covered every part of the program. Tuesday evening varied their acts, Tuesday evening with a number of new and delightful features.

Ziegfeld's Follies' Star Secures Another Divorce.

Ann Hathaway, star of Ziegfeld's 1926 Follies, was yesterday granted a divorce from a husband. When interviewed, Miss Hathaway said: "I forget what his name is, but my attorney says he beat me terribly."

A meddlesome woman, riding in a trolley car, began sneering at a young mother's awkwardness in holding a fretting baby.

"I declare," she snorted, "a woman ought never to have a baby until she knows how to hold it."

"Xor a tongue, either," calmly responded the worried young mother.

Too many people are using money for everything but paying debts.

Any Man (to wife driving a nail): "However do you expect to knock a nail in the wall with a clothes brush? For goodness sake use your head."

"What we want to get at," said counsel in an assault case, "is who was the aggressor?"

"Eh!" said the large, bull-necked witness.

"Let me explain," said counsel, patiently. "If I met you in the street and struck you in the face, I should be the aggressor."

"You'd be an idiot," muttered the witness.

"No, no, you don't understand. Suppose I struck you without provocation. I should be committing an act of aggression."

"Excuse me, mister, you'd be committing suicide," declared the witness darkly.

That Fact and a Missing Revolver Occupy Attention of Authorities Investigating Murder of Aged Man—Wife Still Under $25,000 Bail.

Hammonton, N. J., Sept. 21 (AP).—A will said to have been made in favor of his wife two months before he was slain and a missing revolver were developments in the investigation of the murder of Dr. A. William Lilliendahl to which the authorities turned their attention today. Withdrawals from a joint bank account in the name of his wife and himself and the opening of a separate account by the elderly retired physician a little over a month ago was another disclosure made by the investigators.

Mrs. Lilliendahl is under $25,000 bail as a material witness in connection with the murder. Dea. MacGeorge, a real estate broker from whom Dr. Lilliendahl purchased his cottage in South Vineland, told the police that the doctor had written his will himself and that he and the stenographer in his office had signed it as attorney witnesses. The value of the estate was not revealed. MacGeorge said that Dr. Lilliendahl had left everything to his wife.

Detectives said they had learned that Dr. Lilliendahl had withdrawn some of the funds from the joint bank account and that on August 13 he had opened a separate account with an initial deposit of $1,500. Only about $700 of the physician's individual account remained at the time of his death, the authorities said.

Statements said to have been made by 8-year-old Alfred Lilliendahl, son of Dr. and Mrs. Lilliendahl, led the police to believe that one of the doctor's pistols was missing. Two revolvers were found at the Lilliendahl home, but County Detective Frank Juliano stated that a third, which the boy told him he had seen around the house, had not been located. This weapon was said to have had a pearl handle and to have been of .33 calibre, the same as that used by the murderer.

The pistols found were of .38 calibre and neither had been used recently.

LA SALLE AND CADILLAC MODELS EXHIBITED

The new seven passenger LaSalle sedan, companion car to the Cadillac car, is now on display at the show rooms of Sutcliffe, Inc., where through the courtesy of Mr. Sutcliffe the LaSalle and new Cadillac will be shown until October 1 by Mr. Ferguson of the Ferguson-Cadillac-LaSalle, Inc., local agents for the Cadillac and LaSalle line. The seven passenger Fisher custom body sedan is mounted on a chassis of 134 inch wheel base, nine inches longer than the five passenger sedan. The seven passenger sedan is a new addition to the LaSalle line.

FIRE IN A BARREL IN BUILDING ON BROADWAY

When the janitor of the building at Broadway and Thomas street went down cellar about 11 o'clock Tuesday evening he discovered the cellar filled with smoke and promptly sent in a still alarm of fire to the fire department. Fire was discovered in a barrel filled with rubbish in the cellar and had ignited a wooden partition. The fire was quickly brought under control. The building is occupied by the H. S. Crispell Company as a drug store on the first floor while the upper floor houses Pythian Hall.

Skirts Longer in Paris Fall Modes

Side Draperies Used; Panels and Tunics Feature of Daytime Frocks.

The collection of fall and winter models shown by M. Drecoll includes frocks and gowns for all occasions. The outstanding features are slightly longer skirts, with side draperies and in tailored daytime frocks the use of panels and tunics.

Suits are shown with straight little skirts wrapped to one side in a simple plait effect.

There is a considerable amount of fine tucking and plaiting noted in the sheer dresses destined for general wear, together with much inset work. Coats to wear with sport things are made along slim, straight lines, with geometric insets and chic collars and cuffs of fur.

In the afternoon coats a semi-fitted line is conspicuous with taring effects in the skirt part and a novel use of fur on one never only. The other side of the collar is short, so that when the coat is closed a high standing collar is acquired.

A lavish use of embroidery is noted on the evening dresses and wraps in both silk and strass, while afternoon costumes have, instead of embroidery, jewelry comprising necklace, bracelet and pin, the latter placed at the waistline or on the shoulder. Braids are stitched in clever designs and fringe is seen on sashes and in panel treatments. A decidedly youthful silhouette is accomplished by the introduction of an apron front idea made in flares, plaits or slight shirings.

The materials include velvets, satins, chiffons, crepe and the new printed chiffon velvet that is especially adaptable for mature women. Metal cloths are seen in evening wraps combined with fur and velvet. Black lace is worn over color and metal cloth slips.

The colors for evening wear favor black and white, with many colored wraps to complete the ensemble. Pastel shades are also well represented, but are heavily embroidered in gold, silver or self-colors.

Fur wraps are smartly cut, emphasizing the rounded fronts, especially those of ermine, sable and squirrel.

Daytime frocks are featured in black, navy and brown, with beige, gray and solid beige. Black and navy are two suit colors, with a few shown in tweed mixtures. These, however, are more for afternoon wear. A smart afternoon coat is of black cloth, with an upstanding collar and irregularly cut cuffs and hem to match of beige broadtail. The dress is of beige crepe, with apron effect and much tucking.

Paris Sends Charming Long Coat for Autumn

Black is the dominating color for this attractive wrap. One of the latest models from France. It is designed for fall wear.

Shirts and Collars Are Stylish for Sports Wear

The pert thing for sports wear for women is a slightly modified edition of the standard masculine shirt, collar and tie combination. Women have always banked for the masculine in dress. Of course women have been wearing men's shirts for years. What attaches importance to it is that Paris women have made a fad of it. They wear blouses with masculine collars and sizable cravats or ties. Most women golfers have adopted shirts with soft collars. Many of the new blouses have long sleeves with cuffs of the tailored type fastened with links. These shirt blouses are also worn with tailored skirts.

Plaited Chiffon

Chanel freely plaits a large patterned black and white chiffon for both a dress and its accompanying coat.

THE BUDGET IN SEPTEMBER.

Home from the mountains; home from the sea; home from the cottage or camping trip; home from the old farm; home only from a one-day picnic in the park, perhaps. At any rate, home they all are at the school year's beginning, ready for action as the cool breezes begin to blow. What of the budget, laid out so carefully last January? Is it working pretty well on the whole, and is the housewife more easy in her mind than for years because she knows what she can do and what she cannot? Instead of being constantly harassed by unpaid bills, does she find herself doing all the main business of the month in one half-day at the desk? If the budget has been working pretty well for more than one year, the little reserve is beginning to look almost like a real bank account.

Or did it begin to fall along about February, and was the plan abandoned in despair about May? Then September is the best of all times to pick it up again, find out what was wrong, make a fresh plan and start again. Four months' records are a great deal better than none. By next January, if the accounting and planning are begun now, there will be a solid basis for making a better next year's plan.

No budget is perfect, because no one can wholly foresee the future. No accounting system works accurately over the whole field of human expenditure, because no two human beings look at life alike. But the main lines of living call in general for the same percentages of income. It is just as important and comfortable to have the family financing orderly as it is to have the house clean and ship-shape.

REWARDS OF PUGILISM.

Financial statistics of pugilism are edifying and almost incredible. Sullivan fought Kilrain for $20,000, a vast sum in those days. The stakes rose to almost twice that when he fought Corbett, and there was much moralizing over the making of such fortunes in the fighting ring. The famous Jeffries-Corbett fight brought Jeffries $9,900 and Corbett $6,600. Willard and Johnson fought to divide a purse of $35,000. The Jeffries-Johnson purse rose to the magnificent figure of $101,000, with actual receipts nearly doubling that. In the Dempsey-Firpo fight the receipts rose to half a million. The Tunney-Dempsey fight last year, when Dempsey lost his title, brought in $900,000 for the two to divide between them.

Now Dempsey, contesting to regain his former title, is paid $425,000 before he enters the ring, and Tunney gets a full million for defending the title, and each gets enormous profits besides out of gate receipts, percentages, film rights, radio rights, etc.

There are glittering rewards in pugilism—for the successful. Fortunately for the sanity of the many, there are few who succeed, and there is only room at the top for one champion at a time.

The average fighter doesn't get much for the time, youth and strength he fritters away and the punishment he takes. The rewards of a carpenter, mechanic, chauffeur are surer and, on the average, probably greater, than those of a pugilist. That is, except for the fame.

TAX CUTS.

The President, after studying next year's budget, agrees with Congressional leaders that federal taxes can be cut considerably. Just how much cutting they can stand, and what classes of taxpayers will get the direct benefits, is a question for Treasury experts and party orators to thresh out. There is a general expectation that most of the remaining nuisance taxes will be abolished and that enough will be cut from the corporation and personal income taxes to make a direct saving to the taxpayers of $200,000,000 to $500,000,000 a year, effective next year. This is good news to everybody. The war is being rapidly liquidated. Soon it will be almost forgotten as a financial episode, though never as a human experience. Our new energy and prosperity sweep away debts at an incredible rate. Paying his brother in New York City.

new, constructive development. And that development is accelerated by every proper tax reduction.

The indirect benefits of such reductions are far greater than the direct. Tax savings are the fertilizer of business, producing fruitful results out of all proportion to their own volume.

THAT BODY OF YOURS

POISON IVY.

One of the difficult things to explain is why it is possible for two individuals to tramp through poison ivy bushes, in fact actually brush the bushes aside with their hands, and one will develop an attack of poison ivy, and the other will escape it entirely.

Perhaps ancestors of the one who does not develop the attack may have had severe attacks for a number of years, and thus developed a resistance to it which they handed down to their children and children's children.

The poison ivy, or poison oak plant as it is often called, usually has a sort of oak shaped leaf which grows in clusters of three. There are little berries of a whitish green color which also help to distinguish it.

The plant has to be bruised or crushed to cause trouble. The sap from the plant may cling to farm implements, to clothes, or even the fur of animals.

The Connecticut State Board of Health have been investigating this poison oak menace, and state that there is no truth in the old idea that just to go "near" poison ivy can cause an attack.

When any part of the body comes in contact with the crushed plant, there is an acute irritation of the hands, or burning or itching of the skin. Within twenty-four hours a red rash usually appears, with the skin much swollen, and covered with little water or serum blisters. If the hands have touched the face or other part of the body the rash may break out there also.

However this State Board of Health have been able to show that an abundant application of soap, immediately following contact with poison ivy, will prevent the poison attack. The soapy lather mixes with the sap of the ivy and removes it safely from the skin. Where the attack has developed there are a number of remedies that have been used.

One of the simplest and most effective is the old fashioned remedy for burns, carbon oil, which is made up of equal parts of lime water and linseed oil.

This is very soothing, the oil helping the ammonia to remain in contact longer with the skin.

At a time when walking in the woods, "berrying", is popular, it might be well to make use of these facts given us by the Connecticut State Board of Health.

LOOK AND LEARN.

By A. C. Gordon.

1. What country has a postal system not run by the government?
2. How fast does a wild goose fly?
3. Why was the Mason and Dixon Line established?
4. Who was president at the time the U. S. declared war against Mexico?
5. Of what industry is Birmingham, Ala., a center?

DAILY LESSONS IN ENGLISH.

By W. L. Gordon.

Words often misused: Do not say "from whence did it come?" Omit "from." "Whence" means "from what place."

Often mispronounced: camphor. Pronounce kam-fer, a as in "an," e as in "her."

Often misspelled: fretful; one l. Synonyms: space, extent, expanse, expansion, range, latitude, room, scope.

Word study: "Use" a word three times and it is yours. Let us increase our vocabulary by mastering one word each day. Today's word: Expend: to pay out; disburse. "The agencies now are expending millions of dollars."

TWENTY AND TEN YEARS AGO.

Sept. 21, 1907.—Judge Charles F. Cantine, George Burgevin, Virgil B. Van Wagoner and William F. Rafferty appointed on commissions of appraisal of Ashokan reservoir.

Flashes of Life
Sketched in Brief

(By The Associated Press.)

Stamford, Conn.—At last the Student Prince and Kathie, the maid, his own real love, have gone to the altar. For some 500 times in the fourth act of the play, Lloyd Garrett, of Moulton, Iowa, as the prince, has had to put aside the maid, played by Miss Ruth Williams of Oklahoma City, in order to marry a princess as a duty. Now there has been a fifth act. In the costumes of the play Mr. Garrett and Miss Williams were married under a mower on the lawn of the home bought with some of the proceeds of their stage love.

New York.—Mrs. Julia May Crofton Leary, noted because of her charities, averse in an affidavit that the affection of her husband was diverted to Miss Jean Dalton, his telephone operator. Claiming her husband has an income of $120,000 a year, she seeks alimony and says she is destitute. In answer to a remark by counsel that the countess has $300,000 worth of jewelry, Justice Walsh said: "She can't eat jewelry." The court decided to inquire into the wealth of her husband, George Leary, dredging contractor.

North Salem, N. Y.—Charles Keeler, member of the board of education, is aroused over the excitement created by a 10 p. m. curfew law for teachers. "All we did," he said, "was to request the teachers to be in bed by ten at least three nights a week. There is no compulsion." A visitor to the hamlet found most of the teachers at the movies at 10:01 and thereafter.

Plainville, Conn.—Mrs. Frank Halliwell is inclined to think she is the youngest grandmother. She is 33 years old.

New York.—In the opinion of Dudley Field Malone, Uncle Sam should send a battleship and bring Levine home. "If he doesn't come back soon," said Malone, "we are likely to be drawn into another world war. He is not the diplomat Lindbergh was."

RECENT REAL ESTATE SALES IN THIS VICINITY

The Whiteport boarding house, with 30 acres of land, has been sold to Mr. and Mrs. Makovsky of New York City, who will take immediate possession and improve the house.

The Wood farm on the Blinnewater-Rosedale road was purchased by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hostalek of Alpine, N. J. Mr. and Mrs. Hostalek will take possession of the property on November 1, and make it their permanent home.

These sales were made by W. L. Burnett of the Columbus Trust Company Building, Newburgh, N. Y.

ROSENDALE.

Rosedale, Sept. 21.—Mrs. Alonso Campfield and Mrs. Golden Lewis, who spent the summer at Tannersville, have returned to their homes on James street.

Miss Maude H. Snyder, who spent part of her vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stas-Snyder, has returned to her home in New Jersey.

The new Sport Sedan Landau
combines the charm of many cars

As if to summarize, in one model, all the charm for which Pierce-Arrow has so long been noted, the five-passenger Sport Sedan Landau, proudly takes its place among today's foremost motor cars.

The superb Pierce-Arrow body of hand-hammered aluminum—to which the low, rakish, leather landau back, adorned with Victoria fairs, imparts a smart continental flavor—is mounted on the famous 130-inch Series 80 chassis, with its mighty, silent engine.

In every detail, the richly appointed interior is fully in keeping with a car of such spirited aspect.

Headwork, the Sport Sedan Landau not only evidences the traditional Pierce-Arrow quality in beauty and finish; but through the years and over the miles it will be found far more economical to own and to use than an ordinary car. It may be had in a wide range of color and upholstery.

Only a limited number will be available this season. Orders, of course, must be filled in rotation. Ask us to take a Sport Sedan Landau over to you so that you may see for yourself how splendidly it meets your requirements.

Standard Series 80 chassis. 14 to 17 miles per gallon of gasoline. 15,000 to 18,000 miles per tire. Nation-wide Pierce-Arrow car loan service offers great operating economy. Hourly double-deck shock absorbers and special Pierce-Arrow 4-wheel brakes are standard equipment.

The price of the Sport Sedan Landau is $3025 plus tax and transportation. Other cars up to $8000.

You have asked these questions:

1 "What is my present car worth in trade?"	Answer: Your present car has only one fundamental basis of value: that is what the dealer who accepts it in trade can get for it in the used car market.
2 "Why should dealers in different makes of cars offer me allowances that differ materially?"	Answer: Your present car has seemingly different values because competitive dealers are bidding to sell you a new car.
3 "Is it true that the largest allowance offered means the best deal for me?"	Answer: The largest allowance is not necessarily the best deal for you. Sometimes it is; sometimes it is not. An excessive allowance may mean that you are paying an excessive price for the new car in comparison with its real value.

When you trade-in your present car for a new car, remember that after all you are making a purchase, not a sale. You are simply applying your present car as a credit against the new car's purchase price. So first judge the merits of the new car in comparison with its price, including all delivery and finance charges. Then weigh any difference in allowance offered on your present car.

DURING THE SUMMER MONTHS

We have served more than 3,000 Tourists at our Hotel in Esopus, where we have had on display a Console Model Electric Sparton Radio. At least three-quarters of these people have voluntarily commended its splendid tonal qualities and appearance and have in most instances stated it was the finest Radio reception they had ever heard.

Considering the fact that these tourists have been from all over the country, the conclusion to be reached is that such popularity must be general and must be deserved.

Plenty of Big Game in Canada

Ottawa, Sept. 21 (AP)—Canada is rapidly becoming one of the leading big game countries of the world. With each province offering its characteristic wild life sportsmen from all corners of the earth are manifesting a growing realization of the potential supply of ornamental stock to be found in the many hunting grounds of the Dominion.

Moose, caribou, deer, bighorn sheep, Rocky mountain goat, bear, grizzly bear and lynx are the chief big game animals that may be taken in Canada. For those who fancy smaller game, duck, quail, grouse, woodcock, rail, partridge, quail, chicken, tuffed grouse and Harewood partridge may be shot.

In the Maritime Provinces, Quebec, Ontario and the Prairie Provinces, moose, deer and bear may be hunted; while in most of these provinces caribou may also be killed in season. Throughout the game centers of the three Prairie provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, and in British Columbia on the Pacific coast, buffalo and antelope are hunted in all seasons. In Alberta and British Columbia, there is an open season for bighorn sheep and mountain goat.

Vile laws, close seasons and sanctuaries account for the excellent conservation of the Dominion's large original stock of big game. Climate and soil conditions, which have given Canada her wheat fields and her timber lands, have also provided grazing grounds and winter shelters for a great variety of big game.

Canadians have come to realize that game is a great natural resource. In early days, settlers, striving to clear lands for cultivated fields, looked upon the forest and the game it contained as a phase of development that must pass away. In 1820, it was predicted that the moose would make its early disappearance from a certain district. Today, a hundred years later, moose are much more plentiful in that section than they were then. People today value big game too highly to run any risks of its extermination in Canada by poaching and pot-hunting.

Hunting in the Dominion is not carried on at the expense of any other interest—a marked contrast to many parts of Europe where in old times arable fields were turned into forests to make hunting grounds for the wealthy. To great stretches of land suited mainly for the growing of timber and to the forests scattered throughout parts of the various provinces, regulated hunting is not an injury. On the other hand, this contact of town dwellers with the great outdoors is really a benefit since it makes them conscious of the value of the wilderness.

NAVY DAY OCTOBER 27 TO SHOW NAVY'S IMPORTANCE

October 27, the birthday of Ex-President Roosevelt, has been designated as Navy Day. It has been observed that many people do not know a great deal about the Navy, its mission, and what it does. The purpose of Navy Day is to bring to the attention of the American people the importance of the U. S. Navy and what it does.

It is noted that Navy Day will enable more Americans to understand why men who have served in the Navy are proud to have so served, why men who are serving in the Navy are proud of their jobs, and that young men who contemplate enlisting in the Navy can know that they will have interesting and worthwhile work.

Men in this vicinity who would be interested in knowing more about the Navy or who to enlist may interview the recruiting officer at the Navy recruiting station in the post office building, Poughkeepsie.

STATES AND COUNTIES SHIFT, HOUSE UNMOVED.

Northport, Me., Sept. 21 (AP)—An ancient house that has stood in two states and three counties, and yet never has been moved from its original location, will be preserved here.

The old structure, named the "Jane Hart House," after one of its many occupants, was erected in 1718. An early owner of the land on which the house stands was General Henry Knox, first secretary of war under Washington.

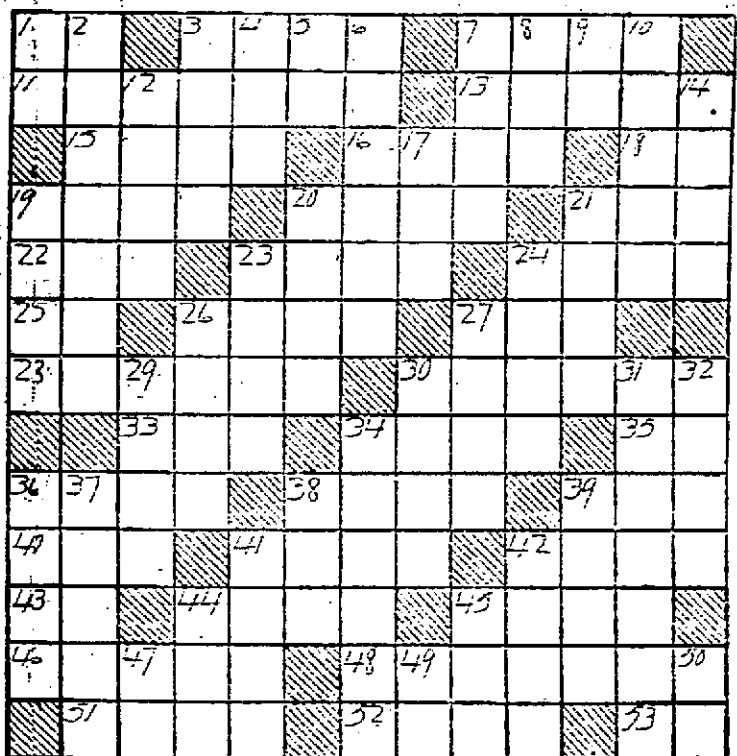

For 162 years the old house was situated on the soil of Massachusetts. Then came the setting-off of Maine as a separate state, and the house, officially was situated in the plantation of Ducktrap and Canaan, Lincoln county. Later it was within the borders of Hancock county. Soon afterward the section became Waldo county, named for General Samuel Waldo.

Time Measured by Candles

The Chinese, besides using water clocks, also invented joss-sticks, which burned uniformly. The joss-stick is somewhat similar to what good old King Alfred of England is said to have used way back in the eighth century. He was a great educator, and discovered that tallow candles could be used for dividing the time which he allowed his nobles in which to make complaints against each other.

Master of many stations

The entire Realm of the Air is yours with the amazing Sparton. Selective... beyond even your hopes! Distance... all you expect and more! Tone... even the programs from far stations come with brilliance that thrills.

Sparton is an instrument for critics of music or for critics of things electrical. Whichever you are, a visit to one of these Sparton dealers will be one long remembered.

Says CLARENCE KELLY

"It is little short of marvelous how Sparton captures the faintest ripple of the piano or the deepest tones of orchestra or band music, and reproduces both perfectly."

Any of the following dealers will gladly demonstrate Sparton

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

BY MARY GRAHAM BONNER

THE QUIET EAGLES

In the house where Kenneth lived there was a chair which had always fascinated him.

It was a very, very old chair, and Kenneth's mother and daddy were very proud of it.

Kenneth's daddy had bought it at a sale of old and curious things.

It was a Roman chair, and on either side were two heads of eagles.

These four heads in all always made Kenneth wonder, for they looked so very lifelike.

He used to imagine that even little wooden eagles must get very tired of always being just the same.

Really it often made Kenneth quite sad to watch them.

One afternoon Kenneth went to a party. A little school chum of his had given it.

It had been a very nice party. But, oh, he did feel so tired, for they had played blind man's buff, bull in the ring, squat tag, and other games.

When Kenneth came home from the party it was not quite his bedtime, but secretly in his heart he was hoping it would come soon, for he had made up his mind that he wasn't going to bed until his bedtime.

He got a book from the library shelf. It was full of pictures of sailors and pirates and ships, because, if anything would keep him awake that would.

He sat down with it on the Roman chair.

Strangely enough, though, after a moment or two, he didn't seem to see

pirates, and the sea began to look very much more like the surface of a chair.

Soon the pirates disappeared entirely, and the four eagles of the Roman chair were looking at him steadily.

"You're terribly tired, aren't you?" said the first eagle.

"Yes, I'm a little tired," Kenneth admitted.

"Well, you're not as tired as we are," said the second eagle.

"No, indeed!" said the third eagle.

"You're only tired because you've played so many games."

"We're tired because we're always quiet, always so very still."

Kenneth listened eagerly, because he'd so often thought just what he was hearing.

"Yes," said Kenneth very sympathetically, "I should think you would be very dull."

"I've often thought that. Have you been there a long time?"

"Oh, ages and ages!" replied the fourth eagle, who up to this time hadn't spoken.

"We were very old before your daddy got us. We've been on this chair so long."

"We can't remember how long. And what makes us feel so sad is that we are called eagles and should fly and yet are forever glued to this chair."

"Kenneth, Kenneth," cried Kenneth's mother, "it's long past bedtime!"

"Oh, I'm not so tired as the eagles are!" said Kenneth, and his mother thought that he must be talking in his sleep.

DELECTABLE CHICKEN

Chicken is one of the meats that is a favorite with people the world over and when well cooked is always popular.

Try cooking a pair of young chickens in the following manner:

Country Style.—Cut into serving-sized pieces as many young fryers as will be needed. Roll in seasoned flour and brown in a mixture of butter and lard in a deep iron kettle or frying pan; when well browned cover and let cook on the back of the range or in the oven until thoroughly done.

Meat separates easily from the bones when well cooked. There is nothing less palatable than half cooked chicken, or more appetizing when well cooked. Remove the chicken to a hot platter and make a brown gravy from the flour and butter in the pan.

Add cream or milk for the liquid. In the country the gravy is poured over the chicken and served with it. Another method when the gravy is to be served over the chicken and makes it still more delicious, is to prepare the gravy after the chicken is browned, then return it to the gravy and cover, and finish cooking slowly for as long as needed to be thoroughly done.

Molded or jellied chicken and other meats are liked.

Jellied Chicken.—Bring to the boiling point two cupsful of chicken stock from which the fat has been removed.

Add to it one tablespoonful of gelatin which has been soaked in four tablespoonfuls of water. Press into a mold four cupsful of seasoned chicken, pour over the stock, put under a weight and chill until firm. Any other meat may be served in the same way.

Maryland Chicken.—Dress and cut up a chicken, sprinkle with salt and pepper, dip into flour, egg and crumbs, place in a well buttered dripping pan and bake in a hot oven, basting with one-third of a cupful of butter. Arrange on a platter and pour over two cupsful of cream sauce.

First and Last Things

One of the first things a child wants to do is to get its hands on a lead pencil and make some zigzag marks on a sheet of paper, which it lispily calls its happy mother is a letter to daddy.

About the last thing an old man thinks of doing is to get an old rump of a lead pencil and tremblingly make notes for his lawyer, indicating to whom he wants to will his property.

Same Old Causes Fatal to Workers

One Hundred and Fifty-five Workers Reported Killed in Industry in August in New York State.

Albany, Sept. 21.—Accidents arising out of their work were reported as the cause of the deaths of 151 men and four women in August.

These workers ranged in ages from 18 to 76, but most of them were under 45, at the ages when men are most likely to leave dependents.

Although information was not available for all cases, at least one hundred children were left dependent and in two cases were left without father or mother. There were 83 widows and 18 dependent fathers and mothers, according to the statement by Industrial Commissioner James A. Hamilton today.

Vehicle accidents, falls and falling objects were prominent as usual in causing injuries. In August explosions and electricity were more than usually important. Each month the most impressive thing in the report of fatal accidents is the way the same causes recur and recur.

Taken singly the accidents appear to be pure chance, but put together it is plain that the same sort of things, broken ropes, defective boards, exposed high tension wires, are always at work causing fatal injuries to workers.

The work of accident prevention lies in finding more and more accidents which at first appeared "unfathomable" to be due to something where adequate forethought and careful regular inspection would have eliminated the danger.

The importance of building and subway construction in causing accidents appears in the fact that construction had almost one-third of all the fatal accidents, eleven more than in all the manufacturing industries together. Ninety-four of the accidents occurred in New York city, 24 from the district centering in Buffalo, 18 in Syracuse, 14 in Albany and 5 in the Rochester district. This is about the number usually reported, except that a rather small number of deaths occurred in Rochester.

Among the cases reported each month some are found at the subsequent hearings to have been due to natural causes or to accidents not arising out of employment and for which compensation therefore cannot be paid.

Vehicles Cause 31 Deaths.

Vehicles caused more deaths in industry than any other single cause. Trains, trucks, automobiles, wagons and other moving vehicles caused 31 deaths in contrast with five deaths due to machines. Nine men were struck and killed by automobiles while they were working or standing in the street.

One of these men was working at a concrete mixer when a truck backed into him and crushed him to death. Two men fell from the seats of trucks on which they were riding and were run over. A chauffeur employed by an oil company was cranking a truck behind his own in order to get his truck out of the garage. The truck was in gear and rolled on top of him crushing him to death between the two cars. Four men were killed in collisions of automobiles with other moving vehicles. One more death was reported as due to the grade-crossing accident for which four deaths were reported last month. Five pea-pickers have now been killed in this one accident.

Ten men were struck by trains, two were run over by wagons, two were killed in accidents occurring on tractors and one man was drowned when a boat on which he was working stranded in a storm. In one case a tractor foreman was killed when an automobile ran past a red light. In one of the tractor accidents, the tractor overturned. In the other the tractor was going in reverse and hit a pole. The driver was thrown from his seat backward and the tractor went over him. Seven of the ten men injured by trains were railroad employees. A switchman was crushed between the platform and the train. One building laborer was re-crossing the tracks to get his coat when a train struck him.

Ten Deaths Due to Explosions.

Ten men were killed by explosions in August. In three different accidents two men were killed. Two men were repairing a steel piling in a paper mill when a steam valve burst. The escaping steam suffocated and burned the two men. Two men were loading holes with dynamite when a charge in the ground directly underneath them exploded prematurely and killed the men. Another double fatality also resulted from a dynamite explosion. As the men were removing old shot from a hole it exploded and killed them. One man loitered after the signal for firing was given, and another started away from a blast and then went back. Both were killed by stones falling from the blast.

Falls Cause Many Deaths.

Falls are always important among fatal accidents in industry. Falls from ladders, scaffolds, window ledges and stairs and falls on a level accounted for twenty-five deaths in August. So little is the importance

"Perfect" Warm Air Heaters

This is in spite of all the precautions that have been worked out for the handling of dynamite, and all the warnings that have been given. In another explosion an acetylene torch ignited gas that had accumulated in a tank that was being cut.

Electricity and Hot Substances.

Seven deaths were caused by electricity. Three of the men received shocks which caused a fall, the fall resulting in the death of the worker.

One man was repairing a blower and was trying to pull out a baffle plate with a wire when the wire caught on a direct current wire carrying a charge strong enough to cause the man to fall from the ladder on which he was working. Two men were electrocuted when they took hold of high tension wires by mistake. A fireman was killed when the thumb of his rubber glove was punctured while he was handling a live wire.

The number of workers killed every month by high tension wires seems to indicate that greater precautions might be worked out where the hazard is so well known and the place of its occurrence so easily predictable.

One man was cleaning fans when hot water from a leaking tank dropped on his neck, causing him to jump and strain himself. He died after an operation for hernia. This particular accident illustrates how a very ordinary and simple accident may cause death. A dryer was burned to death hand painting on textiles.

Falls Cause Many Deaths.

Falls are always important among fatal accidents in industry. Falls from ladders, scaffolds, window ledges and stairs and falls on a level accounted for twenty-five deaths in August. So little is the importance of falls realized that many of the reports do not give enough information to disclose how the accident really started. Each month there recur the same stories of apparently preventable accidents, "rope of scaffold broke," "board broke," "man walked off end of platform" and "ladder slipped" which is one of the commonest of all.

Falling stones, tools and other heavy objects caused fifteen deaths. Fourteen deaths were reported as due to handling objects. A rather surprising number of men died from hernia after lifting or moving heavy objects. The other type of fatal injury in handling is the very simple accident where infection sets in and kills the person. One man was looking for a letter and moved his desk. A splinter caused the infection which killed him.

Lead poisoning, carbon monoxide and carbon dioxide killed three workers and three men died this month in the course of their employment as a result of the violence of their fellow workers.

Russia Asked to Recall Her Envoy

By the French Government—France Says Step is Absolutely Necessary if Non-Aggression Pact is to Be Considered.

Paris, Sept. 21 (AP).—The storm which has been hovering over the head of Christian Rakovsky, Soviet ambassador to France, has burst at last.

Le Matin announces that France has officially informed the Moscow government that Rakovsky's recall is an indispensable condition to any negotiations for a non-aggression pact with the Soviets.

Furthermore, the French ambassador, M. Herriot, was instructed to say, the Soviets must give practical proof of their intention to live up, both in spirit and in letter, to their solemn undertaking, entered into in 1924, to abstain from all interference with France's internal affairs, by ordering their agents and those of the Third or Communist International to cease activities in France.

In addition France requires that the Soviet take active steps to bring to a conclusion the long drawn negotiations for settlement of Russia's debts to France.

PORT EWEN

Port Ewen, Sept. 21.—Thomas Tucker of Broadway has purchased a 1927 Cadillac car.

Mrs. Emma Van Wagenen and grandson, Herbert Seaten, who have been the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Silas W. Perrine on Broadway, have returned to their home in New York city.

Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Kane of Kingston called on Mr. and Mrs. Millard Eckert of Broadway on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Vanderveer, Miss Freda Hoffman, Mrs. Elizabeth Sleight and Mrs. Joseph Midah spent the week end and Sunday at Camp Barbara at Moonhaw.

Esopus Council, No. 42, Sons and Daughters of Liberty, will meet this evening at 8 o'clock. A good attendance is desired.

Claude Middah of Mohonk Lake spent Tuesday at his home on Stout avenue.

Mid-week prayer services will be held in the Methodist and Reformed Churches on Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

Mrs. William Schoonmaker of Kingston spent Tuesday with her daughter, Mrs. Ralph Atkins, on Hasbrouck street.

William Ballantine and friend of Brooklyn are spending a few days with Mrs. Matilda Thinsie on Schryver street.

The Women's Christian Temperance Union will hold a regular meeting at the home of Miss Edith Lampman on Monday, September 26. It was previously announced that the meeting would be held Friday, but the time was changed for convenience.

Attended Sesqui Here.

Among the state historians who attended the Sesquicentennial celebration held here on September 10, was Edith A. Harrison, historian from the town of Gallatin, Columbia county. Mrs. Harrison was accompanied here by her husband, Justice Charles V. Harrison.

Traveling Exhibit Of Crane Fixtures

The Crane traveling exhibit, now on display in this city located on Broadway, opposite the Wieber and Walter plumbing establishment attracted a large crowd today. This motor exhibit of plumbing fixtures will remain at this location this evening and again on Thursday and the public is cordially invited to make an inspection of the "bathroom on wheels."

In the motor truck, which has a big special body built on it, will be found a varied and interesting display of the latest designs in bathroom, kitchen and laundry equipment. There is a modern built-in bath tub, complete with overhead shower and aqua silk curtain, with sink and laundry tray, lavatories, closets and other bathroom fixtures and accessories. There is also the "Premier" automatic storage gas water heater, Crane water softener and a crane automatic water system. The supply fixtures of the lavatories and the sink are actually connected to running water and the fixtures are shown in actual operation. None of the fixtures are for sale and there is no admission charge. There is a representative of the Crane Co. at the traveling exhibit who will be glad to explain any of the wares displayed.

WOODSTOCK ARTIST MARRIES HEIRESS

Woodstock, Sept. 21.—Today at Erie, Penn., the home of the bride, Jack W. Bentley becomes the husband of Miss Olive Flegemaker, and they are to take a wedding trip into Maine. There is no one in Woodstock more popular than Jack Bentley. He has lived here twenty years, coming as a very young man, and his creative ability has constantly increased. Last winter he passed in California, and he brought back from this trip forty or fifty canvases that were the best things he has done.

The young lady that Mr. Bentley has married has been a resident of Erie all her life, although she has passed many winters in Paris and Italy. She also paints a bit. She was an only child and is the possessor of the family home at Erie, her parents having died some years ago. Also she is reputed to be very wealthy.

The match is romantic. Eighteen years ago the young people first became friends, and they have been friends ever since, the acquaintance gradually ripening into great esteem and affection.

It is the purpose of Mr. and Mrs. Bentley to make their home in Erie, and to pass the summers in Woodstock. Here Mr. Bentley retains his studio. It is felt that he will now get down to more ambitious and successful work and become a great painter.

Mrs. Steven B. Ayres has been visiting friends in Rochester, N. Y., for about ten days. She returned on Monday. She reports the new George Eastman Theatre to be a magnificent building. Mr. Eastman has endowed it with a great sum, and it is certain to be the home of American creative music.

Miss Martha Simpkins has arrived from Paris and is occupying her studio on Byrdcliffe Road. Her mother, the widow of Chief Justice Simpkins, late of Dallas, Texas, and her two sisters, are with her now. The sisters teach music and painting in Dallas, and are preparing soon to return there for the winter.

Two new houses are shortly to be constructed by Stanley Longyear on some property he recently bought, which fronts on the Bearsville Road. This is a good location and they are expected to rent or sell readily.

Jewish Services Begin Monday. Jewish services will be held at the Uptown Jewish Community Center at 87 Fair street, during the High Holy days, commencing Monday evening, September 26, and throughout Rosh Hashanah and Yom Kippur. Tickets may be procured at Shattat's store at 41 North Front street or at the People's Store on Wall street.

A Card Party.

A card party will be held at the home of Mrs. Webster Munson, Bowne street, Port Ewen, Friday evening, September 23. Playing will start at 8 o'clock. Pinochle and five hundred will be played. There will be prizes and refreshments. The public is invited.

A Walk With Thoreau

To take a walk with Thoreau, one must rigidly adhere to the manners of the woods. He could lead one to the ripest berries, the hidden nest, the rarest flowers, but no plant life could be carelessly destroyed, no mother bird lose her eggs.

First he would give a curious whistle and a woodchuck would appear—a different whistle and two squirrels would run to him. A different note yet and birds would fly and even so shy a bird as a crow would alight on his shoulder. The children must be mute and very motionless till each pet was fed from his pocket and had departed. Thus the children were introduced to his family, as he called them.—Mary Hooper Brown, in "Memories of Concord."

What Courtesy Overlooks

One way to make sure that you maintain amiable relations with your immediate neighbors is not to permit yourself to take advantage of their close proximity to you. There are always little things that you can learn about your neighbors that it is the part of courtesy to overlook.

Progressing

Daughter was at home from college for the week-end. She seems unchanged, except that she has learned to say: "Is that he?" Before she went away she said: "Is that him?"

Fair Weather For the Fight

Chicago, Sept. 21 (AP).—Fair and cool weather for the battle of Soldier Field, was the forecast today by Prof. Henry J. Cox of the United States weather bureau.

"The cold wave which swept down from the north Monday night sending the mercury to 44 degrees will continue to prevail for at least two days more," Prof. Cox said.

"There is no warm weather in sight and there is even a possibility of frost, but it does look as though we may expect fair and cool weather here Thursday night."

"EVENING CLOTHES" AND FIGHT RESULTS AT READE'S

Adolph Menjou, portrayed of sophisticated Parisian roles on the silver screen, will star in "Evening Clothes" at Reade's Kingston Theatre during the latter part of the week, starting Thursday. Virginia Valli is the leading lady. Besides the Keith-Albee vaudeville bill the returns of the Tunney-Dempsey championship contest will be given. Prince Ali, Hindu prophet, who gives demonstrations in mental telepathy, will close his engagement at the theatre tonight.

Much Fruit in Market.

The local market is glutted with peaches, pears and tomatoes and there is on display fine cauliflower, carrots and other vegetables. Many peaches are brought to market daily by speculators from various sections in trucks carrying a large number of bampers and they are being retailed very reasonably. Some dealers are selling fourteen quart baskets of Elberta peaches for $1 to $1.50.

Perspiration odor so unpardonable

Why risk it—when it's so easy to banish?

WE notice perspiration odor instantly in others, yet cannot always tell when we offend.

For even when we aren't conscious of perspiring, the pores constantly give off odor-causing odor.

Don't take needless chances—use Lifebuoy! Millions bathe with it daily, for it is so refreshing and gives lasting freedom from perspiration odor.

For healthier complexions Lifebuoy's mild, antiseptic lather not only purifies body pores—it purifies face pores, too, keeping complexion clear, fresh and glowing with health.

Better still, it helps safeguard family health by removing unseen disease germs that hands may carry home.

Lifebuoy's clean, hygienic scent—which quickly evaporates after rinsing—tells you it gives greater safety. Yet Lifebuoy costs so little. It is orange-red, the color of its pure palm-fruit oils. Get it today.

Simplicity in Day Dresses and Elaboration in Evening Clothes Are Approved by the Modern Woman This Season

New York.—It has long been the custom in England for women to go abroad by day dressed as plainly as the proverbial pipe-stem, and to blossom forth in dazzling fashion by night. This practice has probably been followed because of the great contrast such extremes afford.

Now Paris and most of the smart world have fallen into the same effective habit, until many insist that nothing matters but well-cut, good-looking sports clothes, and well-cut, good-looking evening clothes. This scheme appeals especially to the young set. Many women of maturity subscribe to the traditional notion that one should elaborate one's costume for late afternoon, if not earlier in the day.

The two great classifications—sports and evening clothes—simplify life for most of us, not only in assembling the wardrobe, but in getting through the routine of the day.

The Long Tunic Type Dress is Exemplified in a Model Combining Bottle Green Georgette with Transparent Velvet Used for the Circular Skirt and Trimmings. The Scarf That Emerges from Beneath the Shoulder Flows Forms a Draped Neckline and Hangs Loosely in the Back.

Just as crepe de Chine became a material out of which one not only made day and evening gowns, but night gowns as well, so velvet threatens to be a material in which we rig ourselves for indoor and outdoor amusements.

The tunic silhouette shares favor both for day and night, and is the silhouette most often discussed for evening, since it is less usual at that hour. The two-piece evening gown appeared upon the scene at least two seasons ago. Perhaps one should say that it reappeared, although it has been so very long since evening gowns consisted of skirt and bodice that one may be pardoned for forgetting that they ever were in vogue.

The robe de style, a bodice and skirt union, is rarely if ever in two distinct sections, but the tunic evening dress, like the tunic day dress, may be absolutely in two parts. White velvet asks your attention for at least one of these parts for evening.

Blue Mountain, Sept. 21.—Mr. and Mrs. John Stratton, Mrs. Brand and two nieces of Poughkeepsie, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dunn of Highland, Mrs. Henry Reynolds and son of Saugerties spent Sunday with Mrs. Carrie W. Schoonmaker at her home here.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Carlson of Watertbury, Conn., have been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Everett Becker.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Freilich spent Wednesday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Schoonmaker.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hommel of West Saugerties were callers at the home of Claude Hommel Monday afternoon.

Vera Cruz

Vera Cruz has the unique record of having been twice captured by American forces, once in 1846 when we were at war with Mexico, and again in 1917, when we were not at war with Mexico. However, all we seem to do with it after we get it is to give it back again, so its citizens probably feel little worried at the vicissitudes of war. Indeed, they have recently raised a statue in honor of the noble defenders of Vera Cruz against the gringos, which shows that they feel they are adequately protected.

The Lace Dress Is Modernized by French Couturiers in Machine-Made Novelties

Black Leads, with Allover Effects Important—Flounces Also Employed—Embroidered Tulle Noteworthy in Several Groups—Some Use of Metal Types

Paris.—Mme. Lanvin created a new art in geometric placement of the design. In general, one finds lace used in allover widths, but here and there, couturiers use the flounces "en forme," or circular, which so many of the lace makers showed in their autumn collections; and tiered dresses frequently make use of narrow straight flounces. The allover widths remain the favorite, probably because dressmakers can cut them more easily and use them for entire dresses.

Chanel offers a sort of laise spirit, tied closely with tiny beads, or covered with glass tubes placed in massed tiny chevrons. There is one beige dress that Chanel embroidered with turquoise beads, and Renee shows some lace and georgette combinations in color; but in general, black prevails when it is a question of lace.

Plain tulle has been quite extensively used, especially by Chantal. Here, one finds skirts composed of panels of two or three colors, or over tunics of black tulle embroidered in gay wool embroideries, posed over metal sheaths in her characteristic fashion. Drecoll is another house to use plain tulle for the skirts of youthfully bouffant dance frocks, and for some of Worth's "Hindu danseuse" dresses with their short boleros, tulle has been employed for the skirts.

Not used in great quantity, metal laces appear here and there in the collections. Cyber has a pleasing dinner gown entirely of gold lace, and Berthe has a black velvet dress trimmed with edgings of rather heavy gold lace several inches wide.

At Premet's there is a dress of black georgette encrusted with rose and silver lace; at Redfern's a sheer lace of chartreuse and gold makes a skirt joined to bodice of velvet. At this same house, a collar of flat gold Venice finishes a princess dress of gold and green broche. Boue Soreurs presents period dresses that employ tulle embroidered in metal and all metal laces.

HOW SWINDLERS MARK THEIR PREY

By W. R. MOREHOUSE

Public Relations Commission, American Bankers Association

In the field of fake investments suckers are graded according to their reaction to the appeal of glittering schemes. A name on a sucker list of investors may have a valuation anywhere from zero to $100.

W. R. MOREHOUSE

If your name is on the list and it is known that you invariably "investigate before you invest," your name is checked to indicate that you are too hard to sell to be worth cultivating further, but if you invest first and investigate afterward, your name is checked to indicate that you are easily swindled and for this reason your name is worth $100—not to you, but to the owner of the list, for the names of those who invest without investigating are choice prospects and sell readily to promoters.

Certain names on a sucker list are checked to indicate "easy picking," and by this is meant that in addition to being ignorant on investments, those checked are not disposed to ask advice of their banker but go ahead and invest in anything from gold bricks to stock in some proposed company.

Those whose names are listed are what might be called "marked investors"—investors who have been marked for slaughter.

Investors who have been marked have their savings taken from them by unwarranted promises of fabulous riches.

If your name is on the sucker list and you are receiving "wild-cat" literature, be on your guard, for not only are you a sucker, but you are a whole lot of "wild-cat" promoters are hot on your trail. If you are skeptical as to the extent to which they will go in order to sell you a scheme, the literature and statements should prove illuminating.

It itemizes the literature and statements sent to each name on a certain sucker list of investors. This literature was mailed in 91 different mailings. Each person received:

- 125 envelopes
- 13 one-page letters
- 22 two-page letters
- 6 three-page letters
- 2 four-page letters
- 52 fake newspapers containing fake write-ups
- 23 pieces of highly lurid prospectus material
- 34 return addressed postal cards
- 72 subscription blanks

Making a total of 363 pieces of literature weighing 11 pounds and costing approximately $50. In addition to this there were numerous telephone calls and personal interviews.

Any person receiving a flood of literature is reasonably certain that as long as you live you will receive bankum literature.

Some people are so foolish as to feel complimented that so much attention is shown them by men having investments to offer. The facts are, instead of a compliment being paid them, it is a reflection on their ability to judge between a good investment and one of the bunkum variety.

If you want to draw the attention of dealers in sucker lists and of promoters of various kinds, let it be known that you have a savings bank account or good securities and you will be the object of a very vigorous campaign to relieve you of those savings.

It is always well to remember that the irresponsible promoter specializes on swindling savings depositors, exchanging his fake investments for their bank account, which is always worth 100 cents on the dollar.

Of the numerous bait schemes used to swindle the public the trading of equities in real estate is among the most successful from the promoter's standpoint.

From the owner's standpoint a trade usually means getting into deeper water financially—going further into debt.

Here's how it works. If you have an equity in a piece of property, which equity you would like to be relieved of, some promoter will offer to give you credit for your equity on the purchase price of another piece of property or on the purchase of certain hot air stocks.

In the first place, the swindler actually allows you nothing for your equity, as he marks up the price of what he is selling you a like amount—with the result that you lose your equity on one hand and get yourself into a less desirable deal on the other.

Proceed slowly if you are approached with a proposition to trade an equity. It may not be exactly what you prefer, but holding the equity is far ahead of holding the sack after some swindler has dealt with you.

At the first regular meeting of the Kingston Parent-Teacher Association for the ensuing school year on the afternoon of September 16 plans were made that will keep the Association active in school matters throughout the year. It was decided to start the membership campaign at once and Mrs. Elmdorf was appointed chairlady. All were urged to subscribe to the Child Welfare Magazine by the president, Mrs. Easton tendered her resignation as secretary and Mrs. Culver was elected.

PLATTEKILL GRANGE

LECTURES "THE LAY OF A HEN"

After several weeks of effort Plattekill Grange has secured Meade Summers, a poultry specialist from the education department of Purina Mills, to put on the instructive and very amusing four act play, "The Lay of a Hen," at the Plattekill Grange Hall at 8:30 o'clock standard time, September 24.

The Lay of a Hen has been presented to more than 124,000 people through granges. The New Paltz Grange was packed to the doors when the play was shown there last March.

Mr. Summers, who takes the part of Phil R. Baskett in the play, is a graduate of the poultry department of Cornell, a well qualified judge of production and exhibition birds, with high standing in competitive judging at Madison Square Garden. He has visited and studied conditions on the largest poultry farms in the east, and is well fitted to give expert advice in culling, diseases, breeding, electric lighting and housing.

After the play, there will be an open forum discussion conducted by Mr. Summers.

Plattekill Grange extends a cordial welcome to all who are interested in poultry. There is no admission charge, there is no advertising. The play was requested by this grange to help in their study of better poultry methods.

LEONARD TRAILS SWEENEY IN SARATOGA ELECTION.

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., Sept. 12 (AP)—Dr. Arthur J. Leonard, former commissioner of public safety, attempting a come-back after his resignation following the gambling investigations last year, trailed his opponent Edward C. Sweeney, by 747 votes in the city primary yesterday. Under non-partisan election system in the city he and Sweeney will be the candidates in the election in November.

Dr. Leonard resigned last year a few days after Justice Heffernan recommended his removal from office as a result of the investigation. Sheriff Wilmon and District Attorney Andrus were removed by Governor Smith as a sequel to the Heffernan hearings.

Valuable Fertilizer

"Nitrated pent" is the fertilizer produced by an Italian chemist from explosives containing ammonium nitrate. The explosive is placed in a measured amount of water, which dissolves out the nitrate, and after a short time is decanted as a saturated solution. This is mixed with peat powder and evaporated. The product contains about 43 per cent of ammonium nitrate, and has been shown to have fertilizing value nearly equal to that of sodium nitrate.

Worth-While Invitation
An invitation to a wedding in Calro is an important event, because instead of being asked for a two-minute church ceremony or a brief reception,
the invitation reads "for three days."
There is feasting during all this time, and the house and street are liberally decorated with flags and lanterns—Brooklyn Eagle.

City Dwellers Flat-Footed Defects of vision and flat feet were found more among city dwellers than those in the country, by army physicians examining those entering the service during the World war.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Sept. 21 (AP).—Low priced shares attracted the bulk of buying in today's stock market. The absorption was especially large in certain of the rubber, public utility, automotive, oil, packing and chemical issues.

Purchases of railway securities were restricted in large part by the sharp recession in car loadings and a desire to wait more light on the character of the impending August statements of income. Consequently, with an evident disposition man ifested to veer away from many high priced stocks which have recently undergone convulsive fluctuations, traders were eager to follow leads into new fields when signs of concerted buying began to appear.

The movement of prices, however,
was not altogether upward. Intervals of weakness occurred in some of the motors, International Harvester, du Pont, Baldwin, Allied Chemical,
Texas Gulf Sulphur, General Railway Signal, American Fueling and some other stocks which command a big speculative following. Manhattan Electrical supply, which had a sensational drop several months ago, was hammered down 4 points to 49, a new low for the year, and Foundation Company dipped to its minimum figure for 1927.

Railroads fluctuated in a confused manner, several Southern and Southwestern issues going up, while some of the coals, and Kansas City Southern and Texas and Pacific lost ground. New York Central, after weakening early, ran up briskly to the highest level in 25 years.

Mercantile shares were in brisk demand and Armour "A", which has been sluggish in recent buying demonstrations in the packing group, went up over two points on large transactions. Wilson and Company
"A" also made a good gain.

Work Begun On Hudson Bridge

While Governors Smith and Moore
Shake Hands in Midstream—Shannon Ceremonies Mark Beginning of Work.

New York, Sept. 21 (AP).—While the governors of New York and New Jersey shook hands in midstream, two spadefuls of earth were turned up on either side of the Hudson river today, officially beginning the construction of the world's longest suspension bridge.

As Governor Smith of New York and Governor Moore of New Jersey joined hands on board the Hudson river steamer DeWitt Clinton, symbolizing the connection to be consummated by the interstate bridge from Fort Lee, N. J., to Fort Washington Park, upper Manhattan, thousands of persons were gathered on the banks of the stream.

Airplanes soared overhead, daylight fireworks burst in the sky, flags waved from shore and from battleships, on the river, the blast of a dozen bands ceased, and after an instant of silence artillery roared in announcing that the ground had been broken.

From the river steamer, Governors Moore and Smith then addressed by means of radio and loudspeakers, the thousands gathered on the shores.
The executives were introduced by George S. Silzer, chairman of the Port of New York Authority.

Local Death Record

There will be an anniversary Mass
for the repose of the soul of Francis E. Whalen at the Church of the Holy Name, Wilbur, Friday morning, September 22, at 7:30.

S. H. Fein, who for several years conducted the New York Drug Store at Rosendale, died suddenly Friday evening at Bear Mountain while returning from New York city. He was widely and favorably known and his death will be learned of with much regret by a host of friends.

Joseph Grahs, a well known and highly respected resident of the lower section of this city, died Tuesday afternoon at the Benedictine Hospital after a brief illness. For many years he was a member of the Union Sick and Aid Society. Deceased is survived by three daughters, Mrs. John Radenburg and Miss Marie Grahs of this city and Mrs.
Floyd Donovan of Albany; two sons,
Henry Grahs of this city and Joseph Grahs of New York city. Funeral from his late home, No. 119 Hunter street, Friday at 9 a. m., thence to St. Peter's Church, where at 9:30 a high Mass of requiem will be offered for the repose of his soul. Interment in St. Peter's Cemetery.

The funeral of Irving B. Wood,
Jr., was held from his late home,
No. 22 Hone street, this morning at 9 o'clock and 9:30 at St. Peter's Church, where a requiem Mass was celebrated for the repose of his soul
by the Rev. John P. Neumann, pastor of the church. The service was very largely attended by his many neighbors, relatives and friends. Tuesday evening scores of friends and playmates came to pay their last respects to his memory.
The floral tributes were profuse and beautiful, testifying to the high esteem in which he was held by all who knew him. The bearers were Philip Mains, John Wolf, William
Stanley, Edward Kruger, John C.
Smith and Joseph Van Buren. Interment was in the family plot in Montrepose Cemetery.

The funeral of Henrietta Beatty, wife of Anthony DeCicco, was held from the late residence, 148 West Pierpont street, this morning at 9 o'clock and at St. Mary's Church at 9:30 o'clock, where a requiem Mass was offered for the repose of her soul by the Rev. F. X. FitzPatrick.
The church was filled with sorrowing relatives and friends and the floral tributes were profuse and beautiful, testifying to the high esteem in which the deceased was held by her many relatives and friends. The bearers were Andrew Balch, Anthony Qualeare, Charles Aondo, George Brocco, Alexander Gondo, Anthony Cicco. The interment was in the family plot in St. Mary's Cemetery, the Very Rev. Joseph B.
Scully, pastor of St. Mary's, pronouncing the final absolution at the grave.

The funeral of Joseph Vaughn, one of the oldest and highly respected residents of High Falls, was held from the family home this morning at 9:30 o'clock, thence to St. Peter's Church, Rosendale, where at 10 o'clock a high Mass of requiem was offered for the repose of his soul by the Rev. Francis M. O'Reilly. The floral tributes were many and beautiful, together with a number of spiritual bouquets in the form of Mass cards, which were placed near the casket. The casket bearers were William Fitzpatrick, LeRoy Cashion, William Flanagan, Joseph Kelly, Andrew Schoonmaker and Egbert Schoonmaker. As the body was borne from the church St. Peter's choir sang "Jesus, Jesus, Come to Me". The Rev. Father O'Reilly accompanied the funeral cortege to St. Peter's Cemetery and pronounced the final absolu-tion as the body was laid to rest in the family plot.

Serious Charge Against Negro.
Tuesday afternoon Benjamin Washington, a negro, was arrested by Officer Brew on the complaint of Lester Wolf, a taxi driver, who charged the negro with the crime of sodomy. As the grand jury is now in session at the court house and as the alleged crime was committed outside the city limits, the negro was not arraigned in police court today, but the matter will be laid before the grand jury.

Tompkins Will Hear All Evidence

New York, Sept. 21 (AP).—Supreme Court Justice Arthur S. Tompkins ruled today that he will hear all the evidence of alleged milk graft and decades after the completion of the "John Doe" inquiry he is conducting as a magistrate, just what part of it, as a matter of law, is justification for seeking indictments.

Harry Dantiger, former manager of the New York Milk Dealers' Credit Association, who pleaded guilty last year to extortion and who received a suspended sentence, was the first witness called today.

Dantiger testified that during 1924 and 1925 he paid $600 a week, or about $50,000 during the year, to a dozen milk inspectors employed in the city's health department. He gave their names.

36 YEARS OLD—FALLS IN LOVE AT FIRST SIGHT.

Omaha, Neb., Sept. 21 (AP).—William H. Martin, 36 years old, of Council Bluffs, has succeeded in his second recent attempt at matrimony.
He was married yesterday to Mrs.
Emma Steele, 60, of Omaha, whom he had met a few hours before.

Martin, who was jilted last week
by Mrs. Ella Nichols, 58, of Tulsa, Okla., counted after the knot had been tied that it was a case of "love at first sight." He said he had never seen his bride until he went to her home ostensibly to hire her as a housekeeper.

"I knew as soon as I laid my eyes on her that she was the girl for me," Martin said. "I suggested that we get married and she agreed. That's all there is to it."

YEDLIN KIWANIS ALL TO SEE KIWANIS KAPERS

Dear Editor:
Please permit me to express opinion of the performance of Kiwans Kiwanis Club. If I had been obliged to go to New York night, I could not have allowed much as a day to elapse without stating my views on the Kiwanis.

Had I been led to my seat in folded, without any previous insight as to the nature of the performance or the identity of the actors, I should not have done for a moment that both were perfessional. But, unfortunately, I not being the case, I came prepared to make allowances, indeed even blush for the plucky but slightly ambitious amateurs. For what a sensible man could expect serious minded professional and business people to prance about in the approved musical comedy manner was too indulgent. So surprising a performance was it that I sincerely advise all tired businessmen in search of pure entertainment and the even more tired professionals in search of good entertainers visit the Kiwanis Kapers immediately.

Purdy Arrested
In an Auto Deal

Had Just Completed Serving Term in Greene County Jail for Another Auto Scrape—When Brought Here charged With Grand Larceny.

Lester Purdy, 19 years old, was arrested at Catskill on Tuesday afternoon by Sergeant James V. Simpson on a warrant sworn out by the Ulster County New Organization of 181 Broadway charging Purdy with grand larceny in the second degree. Purdy was just completing a term in the Greene county jail for an auto scrape.

According to the information Purdy is charged with taking a Ford sedan from the Reo Corporation on which he agreed to make weekly payments but had failed to do so.

Purdy was accompanied to police court by his wife who informed Judge Shufeldt that she had just ascertained that the Ford sedan was in the possession of the sheriff of Greene county.

According to Purdy's story he had just completed serving a term in the Catskill jail for an auto scrape. He said that this last scrape he was in had taught him a lesson and that he wanted nothing further to do with automobiles.

After talking the matter over the hearing was adjourned to September 24, and bail fixed at $500.

Forfeited Bail.
Marino Sebastiano of Brooklyn was arrested by Officer Camp on Tuesday charged with failure to observe a traffic signal. This morning the Brooklyn man forfeited $10 cash bail for failure to appear and answer to the charge.

PLATTEKILL GRANGE
TO HOLD ANNUAL FAIR

Plans are under way for the annual Plattekill Grange fair to be held on Friday evening, September 30. There will be exhibits of flowers, fruit and vegetables, for which first and second premiums will be awarded by competent judges, selected by the committee.

The surrounding schools will exhibit samples of their work and prizes of $5 and $2.50 have been offered to the schools presenting the best exhibit. A $2.50 gold piece will be awarded to the pupil submitting the best essay on the subject, "Advantages of a Farm Boy or Girl." Grade and age of the pupil will be considered when judging. Essays should be in the hands of the committee by September 27.

There will be a food sale of home-baked products, a homemade candy booth, fish pond for the children, and a clam-chowder supper will be served by a capable committee. Music will enliven the occasion. Every one is invited to attend.

Lost Keys.
One of The Freeman employees lost his keys Tuesday afternoon either on the left hand side of Broadway, (going up), or on O'Reilly street. A suitable reward is offered for their return. Telephone 2200 or 563-W.

LAST NIGHT
on the RADIO

There was very little static but a lot of fading Tuesday evening with WJZ the star fader. The Eveready program was received from KDKA better than from WEAF. The WGY program was received well but later WGY distorted.

The best DX stations were WLS and WGN, the last named suffering from a persistent flooper. WTAM, WJW, WEAO and WJR were also good.

Fifty stations will be on the hook up to broadcast the Fourth Annual Radio Industries Banquet from the Grand Ballroom of the Hotel Astor, New York city, at 9 o'clock, eastern daylight time, tonight. Rear Admiral William H. G. Bullard, chairman of the Federal Radio Commission, will be the only speaker, and Reinold Werrenrath, one of the first of the famous opera and concert singers to broadcast, will feature the evening's entertainment. Werrenrath, a former Metropolitan Opera baritone, opened the famous series of Atwater Kent Sunday night radio concerts, just two years ago, and will sing tonight under the auspices of A. Atwater Kent.

He will sing three numbers at the dinner, "Connemara Shore," the old Irish air, "Sally in Our Alley," Herbert Carey's favorite of two centuries, and "The Ringers," by H. Lohr. This four-hour program will include in addition to Reinold Werrenrath, such well known radio artists as the Eveready Keyholders Orchestra; Walter C. Kelly, "The Virginia Judge"; The Maxwell House Orchestra; the Capitol Family artists; Sam 'n Henry; Radiotrons; Van and Schenck; Combined Opera Ensemble; Moran and Mack; the Philco Orchestra; the Happiness Boys; The Royal Stenographers; American Singers; Evelyn Herbert, soprano; Silvertone Quartet; Troubadours; the City Service Cavaliers and Don Vorhees.

DAILY DAY EXERCISES
AT PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH
A church rally will be held at the Elmendorf Street Presbyterian Church on Thursday evening at 7:45. Enthusiastic reports will be given by the five delegates sent to three separate conferences at Northfield, Mass. Camp songs will be sung by girls of the Westminster Guild.

On Sunday at noon the rally day and promotion exercises will be held. Every scholar is expected, and parents and friends are invited. The church has an up-to-date school with public school grading and promotions according to work done. Mrs. Cady has recently returned from Northfield where she took a special course in junior methods and in the psychology of the junior child. The new course opens on the first Sunday in October at 12:45 and the school invites any children not affiliated with any other school to unite. Registrations may be made this coming Sunday.

Dr. Cady has a large class of high school students and would welcome more.

Are you still driving a 1916 model?

A thousand chances to one you're not. Such a car is worn out, behind the times and besides - your social position would not permit it. But speaking of appearances do you know that your hands are more noticed than your automobile? Why belittle your prosperity by wearing a ten year old ring—and with no ring at all you are as conspicuous as the man who drives his car on bare rims.

Cordially yours,
Safford & Scudder
